An all-in-one guide for the general user

Friendly Fixtures

User Guide

Bradley Archer 121203
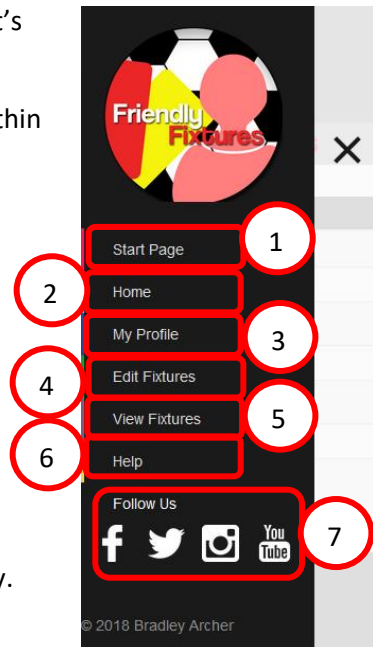

Contents

Introduction

This is the user guide for the Friendly Fixtures application, this should be used if you are having trouble navigating or identifying certain features of the web application.

Navigation

The navigation for this web application was made incredible simple. It's an effortless process of popping out the nav.

This will then open the user to all the navigation options that exist within the website.

1. This will return the user back to the start page of the application

2. This will take the user to the home page

3. To the my profile section of the website

4. Allow the user to add fixtures to the website

5. Allow the users to view the fixtures they have added

6. Allow the user to obtain help from within the website

7. Clickable social media links to get in touch or research the company.
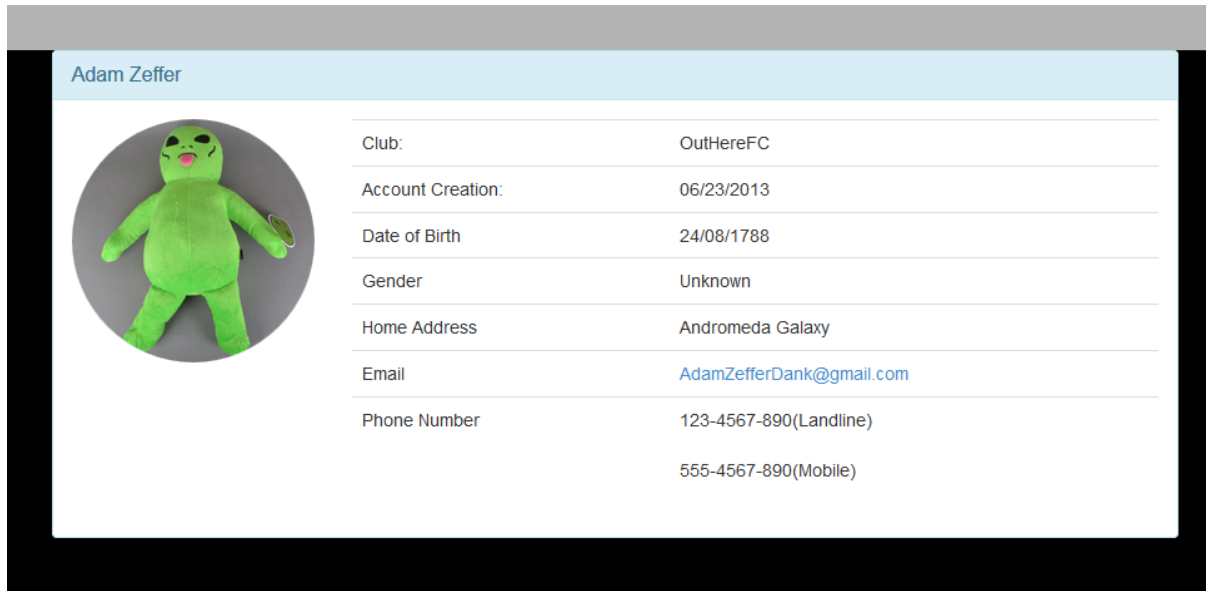

Start Page

This is the start page of the website, its what you're first greeted with upon opening the website. There aren't many buttons on this page so its easy to navigate.

1. This is the button the user can click to enter the home page, entering the site

2. This will take the user to the contact section of the webpage, where they can download the user guide or contact the company
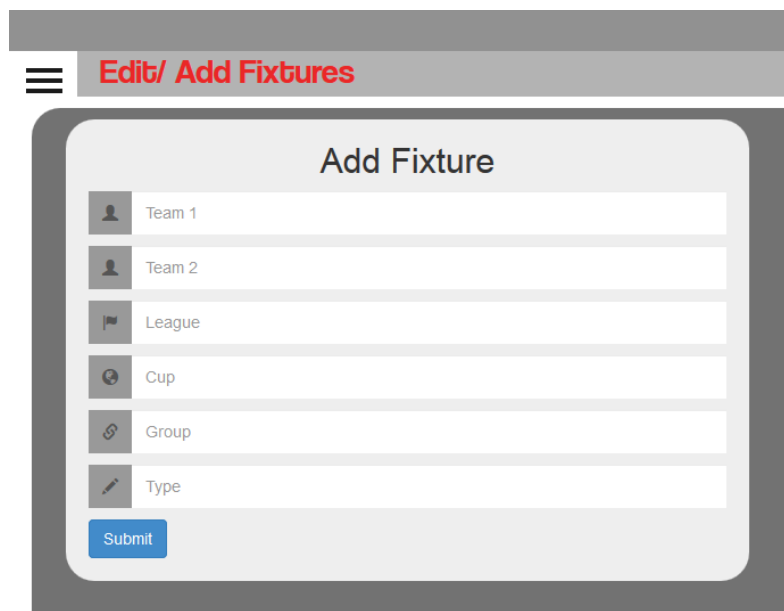

My Profile Page

This page will allow the user to view all their personal information that they have added to their profile from within the site. This information cannot be changed unless you use the contact section to get in touch with an admin.

Edit Fixtures Page

Adding fixtures within this application was made very simple by this form that was created for the user.

Simply fill in the input boxes with correct information and then hit 'Submit' this information will then be added to the database.

This information can then be viewed in the 'View Fixtures' part of the website

View Fixtures Page

This is where the user can view all the fixtures that have been added into the database, either manually, or on the application itself

Help Page

This is the help page, here the user can contact the company for queries, or help using the website. This is also where they can download the help document for the site, teaching them how to navigate and use it.

Contact Page

The contact section on this web application allows the user to fil in the form with appropriate information, and then send this information to the company when they hit 'send message'.